

School of International Relations, University of St Andrews

MARTINMAS SEMESTER SEMINARS (2018-2019)

-
- 24 September Chris Ogden, University of St Andrews
China & India: Asia's Emergent Great Powers (book launch)
- 08 October Sibylle Scheipers, University of St Andrews
On Small War (book launch)
- 15 October Gregory Daho, Pantheon-Sorbonne University
Rebalancing Civil-Military Relations in France
- 29 October Susan Schulamn, Freelance photographer
War Photography
- 05 November Roundtable, University of St Andrews
Mainstreaming Gender: What would it mean and why should we go there?
- 12 November John Anderson, University of St Andrews
When John Brown met Dixie: Representing the American Civil War
- 19 November Nick Brooke, University of St Andrews
Terrorism and Nationalism in the United Kingdom: The Absence of Noise (book launch)
- 26 November Hew Bennett, University of St Andrews
The British Army in Northern Ireland
-

CANDLEMAS SEMESTER SEMINARS
(2018-2019)

- 28 January Naomi Head, University of Glasgow
Structural injustice, political responsibility and emotions: from refugees to slavery
- 25 February Nicholas Wheeler, University of Birmingham
Social Bonding in Diplomacy: Face-to-Face Interactions and Rituals in the 4th Image
- 11 March Catherine Baker, University of Hull
The affects of the gaze: embodied spectatorship and a queer aesthetic curiosity towards international politics
- 22 April Berit Bliesemann de Guevara, Aberystwyth University
Knowing Through Needlework? Conflict Textiles and the Study of War and Violence in International Politics
-